

PRESS RELEASE

Hufvudstaden welcomes TRR

Redundancy support provider TRR is moving to a new address in the Nordstan area of central Göteborg, having signed a lease agreement with Hufvudstaden. The move to the 1,070sqm office space located at Nils Ericsonsgatan 17 is scheduled for August 2021.

- We're delighted to welcome TRR to our premises on Nils Ericsonsgatan. The central location makes it easy for TRR employees – and the staff and companies that they support – to travel to. The premises are well-suited to TRR's activities that demand flexibility and a sense of openness, says Anki Håkansson, Property Manager, Gothenburg Business Area, Hufvudstaden.

TRR offers employment transition and life coaching support. The non-profit foundation supports white-collar staff who have been made redundant to find new work, study, or start a business. It has 35,000 affiliated companies that employ a total of 950,000 people. TRR seeks to make the path from one job to another positive solution as qualitative, effective, and as meaningful as possible.

- We support employees with personal advice, seminars, and practical exercises which involve people meeting one another. During the pandemic, this has been done digitally, but we envisage a future where we will once again meet in offices. Those visiting TRR should feel confident in our commitment to them. Our premises are a key element of this commitment. That's why we're looking forward to moving into our new offices on Nils Ericsonsgatan, says Gabriella Nilsson, Regional Director at TRR.
